

DOUBLE GUARD ABOUT CELL OF HARVEY BAILEY

Underworld Characters Active Officials Claim

Oklahoma City, Sept. 5.—(P)—As forces of the law concentrated attention on the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel in readiness for the federal court trial of Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates, and nearly a dozen other charged in the abduction, developments involving the activities of other underworld characters claimed the spotlight today.

A double guard stood watch inside and outside the old county jail building yesterday after his spectacular escape from the Dallas county jail and recaptured at Ardmore, Okla. The jail's exterior is flooded with night.

Held with the two outlaws are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shannon and their son, Armon, on whose farm Bailey was captured while asleep several weeks ago.

At Dallas a rigid investigation of the jail break was under way, and a federal grand jury will look into the mysterious escape.

Nick Tresp, jail turnkey who was kidnapped by Bailey at the time of his escape, supplemented his previous statement with the further information that Bailey told him all the work of saving the bars of his cell was done Sunday night and Monday morning.

Tresp quoted Bailey also as declaring he brought the jail keys to the building and hid them on his thigh by adhesive tape and that he found the pistol used in the getaway in a mattress.

Dallas authorities revealed that an inquiry failed to show a pass for James Mathers, Bailey's attorney who went to Dallas last Friday to talk with the outlaws.

There remained some uncertainty whether Bailey would be tried here in the kidnapping case before being taken to Kansas City for trial in connection with the Union station plaza slayings, in which four officers and Frank Nash, federal prisoner, lost their lives.

The Chicago Evening American today quoted an unnamed prisoner in the county jail there as having informed federal operatives that Chicago's famed gangster, Alvin Karpis, was planning to escape.

Frank Nash for death. The news, said William "Three-Fingered" White, labor mucker, had raised $4,000 from the underworld to be used in an effort to free Mrs. Nash. It was explained, "the underworld wants Mrs. Nash free so she can be killed because she committed the unforgivable act, according to the code of underworld, of giving information to authorities."

The American quoted the jail prisoner further as expressing uncertainty over Bailey's alleged connection with the Kansas City Union Station slayings.

Other developments that attracted the interest of authorities today was a dispatch from Kansas City, Mo., stating that Sheriff Frank O. Ellis of Tompkins county "positively identified" a woman hitch-hiker to whom he gave a ride out of town Saturday as "Betty" Wainwright, alleged sweetheart of Bailey. She was bound southwestward, Ellis said.

Adams, who federal operatives said was a loner record as a cold-blooded killer, was held on bond of $60,000 following arraignment before a U. S. commissioner. Bail of $20,000 was set for the woman.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—(P)—Richard W. Adams, alias Bob Barker, suspected of passing $50,000 in counterfeit bills during the past year was arrested here today with a woman companion, identified as Lila Mae Adcox of St. Louis.

Adams, who federal operatives said was a loner record as a cold-blooded killer, was held on bond of $60,000 following arraignment before a U. S. commissioner. Bail of $20,000 was set for the woman.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—(P)—Maxie Eisen, "Kingfish" of the Fish Dealers Union today was sentenced to six months in the house of correction on charges of possessing a "criminal reputation."

It was the second conviction the state has obtained in the new fight against hoodlums under the "reputation" law recently issued by Walter Guider, whose name was included in the long list compiled last week of those officials consider have blotted escutcheons and no reputable means of support, was the first to be convicted.

When Judge Thomas A. Green passed sentence upon Eisen it made the score in the state's long campaign against him: Arrests, 42; convictions, 10.

More than a dozen police officers and business men testified that Eisen for years czar of the Fish Dealers' association, was a "racketeer, gangster and shakedown artist."

A restaurant owner, Leon Jarinkes, said Eisen had several times extorted money from him. Once, after he had refused to meet his demands, his establishment was bombed, Jarinkes declared.

In Judge Green's opinion, Eisen was unable to make adequate denial of the charges. He ordered a motion for a new trial and ordered him placed in custody.

Immediately after the Eisen sentencing, Sam Battaglia, west side hoodlum, failed to appear in court on similar charges and judge ordered forfeited his $10,000 bond, raised to $30,000 and issued a capias for his arrest.

Henry Ford Is Honorary Head Of N.R.A. Unit

Detroit, Sept. 5.—(P)—Henry Ford is honorary president of the Dearborn, Mich., unit of the N.R.A., it was revealed today.

The fact that Dearborn's first citizen had been named to the post became known when the unit met today to determine what if any action should be taken regarding his appointment in view of the fact he has not signed the N.R.A. agreement for the automobile industry.

The unit was formed three weeks ago and its officers, saying they had been assured that Ford would cooperate, named him honorary president.

Today's meeting of the unit adjourned without reaching a decision regarding Mr. Ford.

TRADE CHARTERS FOR INDUSTRIES ARE FORMULATED

Ten Million Workers Are Affected By Program

By James P. Selvaige (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Chicago, Sept. 5.—(P)—The formulation of trade charters for two industries whose normal employment was estimated by recovery administration officials to embrace ten million workers tonight awaited Hugh S. Johnson.

The administrator, speeding back to the capital from Chicago where he had disclosed that there was no further word as to whether Henry Ford would adhere to the N.R.A.'s automobile code, came to a desk piled high with work, topmost of which were codes for the retail and construction industries.

A statement of policy designed to simplify the writing of a master code for all retailers before the end of the week was in the hands of Arthur D. Whitehead, the deputy administrator ready for Johnson's approval. Tomorrow, public hearings open on a single code covering nine of the most important divisions of the construction industry.

As he left Chicago, Johnson gave no indication that the dissemination of Henry Ford's code to accept the automobile code was to bring action from the administration.

"It's Ford's move," he said, expressing again the intention to wait until public opinion in support of the N.R.A. program has been brought to bear upon the Detroit manufacturer.

However, the code in effect today for the automobile industry is binding also upon Ford under the law and should he violate its provisions the administrator said "I'll have to do something."

The general impression in official circles was that Ford would put his own code upon the market, but at least equal or better than those in the code. The compensation now in effect at the Ford plants is higher than the minimum prescribed in the code. It became known today that wages in the Ford plants were being paid upward, many from $4 to $4.50 a day.

In the law's provisions guaranteeing to labor the right of collective bargaining and the code's stipulation that certain portions of each company must be open for inspection have been the principal objections of Ford.

Johnson pointed out in Chicago that should Ford's employees organize and send representatives to negotiate with the manufacturer, and he refused to meet them, this would be a direct violation subject to action by the administration.

As for the opening of company's books, Ford's production figures are known generally by the industry, the most recent figures placing him second. The figures range, about 49 per cent of production for the leader, 32 for Ford and 26 for the third largest manufacturer.

While the profits of other companies are made public in accounting to stockholders, since their stocks are listed on the market, this has been one of Ford's most closely guarded secrets. His is a family-owned company and not required to make a public statement of profits and loss.

Discussing this, Johnson said, "the code may require a certain amount of openness, but I wouldn't stand for prying into anyone's business secrets."

Among high administration officials the opinion was expressed that Johnson and President Roosevelt hoped the Detroit auto magnate would accept the code for the industry for they do not wish a give and take battle which they feel might distract the public's attention from the general cooperation upon which the N.R.A. program is based.

These officials pointed out, however, that in bringing the remainder of the automobile manufacturers under a code the administration has made a distinct commitment not to give competitors an advantage.

Along with these problems, there still was the coal dispute to be settled.

Resumption of conferences between non-union bituminous coal operators and spokesmen for the United Mine workers of America was postponed today until tomorrow in the absence of Johnson.

The bituminous was described as hopeful that contracts between the mine owners and John L. Lewis, president of the union, could be settled within a few days and that he can then write a code for the industry.

More than a dozen police officers and business men testified that Eisen for years czar of the Fish Dealers' association, was a "racketeer, gangster and shakedown artist."

A restaurant owner, Leon Jarinkes, said Eisen had several times extorted money from him. Once, after he had refused to meet his demands, his establishment was bombed, Jarinkes declared.

VERMONT IS 25TH STATE TO VOTE WET

Prohibition Forces Have Their Hopes Upset

By Eben A. Ayers (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 5.—(P)—Vermont today joined the repeal movement, the 25th state to vote against the 18th amendment.

Long listed in the prohibition column, the Green Mountain state upset the hopes of prohibition forces and recorded itself two to one against retention of the amendment.

The complete vote of the 248 towns and cities was: for repeal, 41,279; against, 20,572.

A ticket of 14 delegates to a state convention to be held later in the month was elected as a group representing each of the 14 counties. The convention will meet at Montpelier to ratify the 21st amendment by which the 18th would be repealed.

The victory for the repealists was as sweeping as their predictions. Only two counties were recorded in the dry column, Lamoille, one of the smaller, located in the north central part of the state and with few large communities within its borders, and Orleans, adjoining it on the northeast and of similar rural character.

Prohibition forces had relied largely upon the vote of the rural sections, regarded as the dry strongholds, for their support and it was town in those sections that the few majorities recorded for the amendment were polled. The anti had predicted a sweep in the cities and larger communities and their hopes were fulfilled with 10-sided majorities in some instances. Rutland City went 3,532 to 681 for repeal.

Montpelier, the capital, voted 1,558 to 535 for repeal and Burlington went 3,865 to 1,059 for repeal.

A light vote was recorded, barely half the total cast in the last general election. Despite an active campaign comparatively little interest had been shown by the voters and leaders attributed this to a feeling that with 24 states already decided against the amendment and none in its support, Vermont's action could have little effect either way.

The prohibition forces had carried on their work largely through meetings in the churches and campaign addresses by Bishop Edwin Hughes of Washington. The repealists relied largely upon the appeal of the administration in the person of Postmaster General Farley who addressed a rally in Rutland, and an address Saturday night by Representative James M. Wadsworth.

These officials pointed out, however, that in bringing the remainder of the automobile manufacturers under a code the administration has made a distinct commitment not to give competitors an advantage.

Along with these problems, there still was the coal dispute to be settled.

TEXAS SWEEP BY HURRICANE; MANY KILLED

Property Damage Will Total Several Millions

Edinburg, Tex., Sept. 5.—(P)—Twelve known dead, more than 50 injured and many thousands of dollars damage was the toll of the gulf hurricane which last night and today laid waste to the rich and populous lower Rio Grande Valley.

Ten were killed at Harlingen and two at Rio Hondo. These were the only victims of the storm who were injured and in a hospital at Mercedes and 48 were at Harlingen. Of the injured at Harlingen ten probably will die.

W. R. Marler, a railroad engineer, who made the way of the storm, said the bodies of three persons had been recovered from the stricken area and said "there undoubtedly are at least a hundred more."

Lines Crippled

Fears were expressed that the death toll would mount as the full extent of the terrific storm becomes known with the slow restoration of crippled communications lines.

Congressman Richard M. Kleberg, who flew over the lower Rio Grande Valley, told Mayor E. Quinn of San Antonio that hundreds of persons probably had been killed.

Brownsville, Harlingen and San Benito, in the heart of the Texas "Winter Garden" area, one of the richest agricultural sections of the nation, bore the brunt of the storm, which struck last midnight and raged on for hours.

Other valley towns suffered severe damage.

The citrus crop, valued at millions of dollars, was reported virtually a total loss.

Five relief trains converged on the stricken area tonight, carrying medical supplies and food. Two were dispatched from the coast, one from Laredo, one from Kinneyville and one from Corpus Christi.

State authorities moved swiftly to maintain order and take relief to the storm country. Harry Hogue, federal relief director, ordered the division of the Texas rehabilitation and relief organization to purchase groceries for the destitute.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson asked the commander of the eighth corps army to dispatch a medical corps to the valley to prevent the spread of disease, and major general Edwin B. Winans complied.

The casualties could not be reckoned but it was considered improbable that the relief disturbance could have passed through the communities without taking a heavy toll.

Indefinite and meager reports from towns on the edge of the devastated area told, however, of bodies lying on the highway because of the storm.

A newspaperman, Dan Fowler, who made a trip from Brownsville to McAllen estimated 200 persons were injured.

"Small houses have been smashed to kindling wood in the three counties, which apparently bore the brunt of the storm, Brownsville, Harlingen and San Benito. Fronts of brick buildings have been battered to pieces. Debris is everywhere," he said.

The estimate of injured was only tentative, he said, since communications and the littered streets made an accurate check immediately impossible.

Brownsville, San Benito and Harlingen apparently were in the center of the hurricane, which struck in full force about midnight last night," he said, "while everyone had been warned that the storm would be very severe, many were unprepared for what did happen."

"It had been blowing hard all day yesterday, but the first high wind was felt about 11:30 p. m. Suddenly the roar of the storm became deafening, and we all knew the hurricane had arrived. The sound of falling signs, tumbling bricks and shattering glass encompassed everything. The wind was from the northwest and reached more than 100 miles an hour."

"It blew that way until about 2:30 a. m., when there was a lull. It was the usual lull that comes when a hurricane center passes. It was calm until about 5:00 a. m., when the wind began rising again, and soon it was tearing away at 100 miles an hour."

"The high wind continued until about 10:30 o'clock this morning, when it began to recede. This marked the beginning of the end of the storm, although strong winds continued."

"There was rain and water everywhere. It fell in torrents. People telephoned our office all during the storm, saying rain was coming through the roofs, and some said the roofs were about to be carried away."

MANY RETURN TO JOBS

Cleveland, Sept. 5.—(P)—The unemployment rate in Cleveland during August was estimated today by Howard Whipple Green, statistician for Mayor Ray Miller's business recovery committee, as 650 persons per working day during the month.

The unemployment figure for Cleveland now is 128,900 with 69,000 having gone back to work in the last six months," Green said.

Approximately 17,000 of these went back to work in August, 3,000 more than returned to their tasks in June.

We Must Keep Out

If Europe goes to war again, the United States must keep hands off. Perhaps if all nations will follow this policy, there will not be another world war; but if they plunge into the melee as they did in 1914, there will be a disaster from which civilization may not recover.

The world was dealt the social and economic structure of the civilized part of the earth a staggering blow. It also undermined the moral character of the people and started that downward trend of morals which is still continuing. Taboos on what used to be considered real sins have been broken down. There are no particular restrictions on the man who finds the "straight and narrow" path unpleasant and takes the broad highway. He is not subject to any special disapproval of public opinion as long as he does not commit any crime against the laws of the state. Even if he does, there are considerable elements of the population who will accept him on terms of social equality.

This condition has its inception in the world war, where millions of young men became acquainted with brutality, uncleanness, murder, blood and general ideas of destruction. It will take years to wipe out the moral effects of that conflict, and another war would only prolong the period of regeneration. The farther America can keep from another war, the better chance she will have of preserving her civilization, what there is left of it.

Money in Gold
The recent orders of President Roosevelt lifting partially the embargo on gold shipments out of the United States were given to meet an industrial emergency. The price of gold in other countries is high, and American gold refiners and producers were being deprived of a world market.

In addition to being a medium of exchange, gold is a commercial commodity. Miners and refiners do not take all their products to the mints. The American market did not absorb the gold output, and it had become a drug on the market. The lifting of the embargo opened the world market and gave American gold dealers a chance at the good prices. The gold output of the world seems to be increasing, and as long as the market is good, the usual restrictions will not be applied. Down in British Guiana, gold has been discovered and natives who have no expert knowledge are panning it from the streams at a profit of $7 a day to themselves. There is apparently a demand for gold.

Buyers of trinkets go through this country and have been shipping out gold into Canada at the rate of a million dollars worth a month. If scientists could find a process to take the gold from sea water, such a profitable business would not last long, for there is enough gold in the sea to flood the world market.

SEND VOLUNTEER BUTTONS FOR NRA WORKERS TO WEAR

Another type of NRA emblem has made its appearance. It is a button for volunteer workers. The word "volunteer" is written in red across the Blue Eagle, but other wise the emblem is the same. A shipment of these buttons has come to Jacksonville.

All workers who assisted with the recent NRA campaign here are entitled to wear these buttons, and all who are still giving volunteer aid should have them. The buttons can be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce by those entitled to wear them.

Santa Monica, Calif., Sept. 5.—Every holiday ought to be named "Labor day." If we could ever get vacations down to where you wasn't any more tired on the day one was over than on our regular work day, it would be wonderful. The president caught a Vincent Astor not watching him close, and sneaked off his yacht and went on a whaler, from all I can hear about yachting the tough part is getting somebody to ride with you. One rough day and you lose half your crew, and all your guests. By the way a good stiff sales tax on "hamburgers" today could have paid our national debt. Give an american a one piece bath, a suit, a hamburger, and five gallons of gas, and they are just as tickled as a movie star with a new divorce.

FARM BUREAU NOTES

One of the poorest crop and feed seasons in years has elevated the silo to new importance in Illinois agriculture, according to W. A. Foster, of the department of agricultural engineering, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Corn crops will be the shortest in nearly half a century. Pastures are very short and hay prospects are not up to standard, he pointed out.

Silage has saved the day for many a farmer who might otherwise have run short of feed. More silos can be built to advantage if the uncertain corn crop does not mature in time to escape frost, Foster pointed out. An early frost which would make corn unfit for cribbing and market would not seriously injure the crop for silage. Corn that does not bear grain or have time to mature can be saved and made into silage.

Being a leading livestock state, Illinois long has depended upon the silo as a feed storage building, even in normal years. Foster said. Silage is a palatable, succulent feed which not only provides for good grains but also keeps livestock in a strong, healthy condition, he said.

"There are many kinds of silos. The temporary one is better than none at all. The silo which is reasonable in cost, has a low maintenance and care outlay and which will last for years is a good investment on many Illinois farms keeping livestock."

The commonly known silo is built like a circular tower to a height of 30 feet or more. In recent depression years however the trench silo has again become popular. Used originally, where silage was first introduced, the trench silo was abandoned in favor of the cylindrical type. Emergency measures to save drought-stricken crops have revived the use of the trench silo. It has prevented many financial crashes and herd losses in drought-stricken areas.

"The trench silo is nothing more than a trench with sloping sides that is scraped out with teams or a tractor, and a scraper. The silage is cut, placed and tramped in the usual way and covered with straw or some other material to keep out the air. It is fed out by starting at the end, thus keeping the spoilage losses low."

BLAZE DESTROYS MOVIE THEATER AT GRIGGSVILLE

Griggsville, Sept. 5.—Fire of undetermined origin broke out at 2 o'clock this morning in the Star Theater, resulting in total destruction of the building and its contents. Loss is estimated at between $5,000 and $8,000.

The Griggsville fire department with two streams of water on the blaze prevented its spread to several nearby buildings. The residence property to the south of the theater owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Funk and occupied by Mrs. Mary Piper was vacated, but escaped damage. A blacksmith shop on the north owned by Ivan Lytle was saved from damage by metal walls.

The Pittsfield fire department arrived during the fire and offered assistance. Water to fight the blaze was taken from a large cistern near the M. E. church.

E. C. Wade, who with his sons, Joe and Bud operated the theater, said the loss is only partly covered by insurance. The amount of insurance was reduced less than two weeks ago.

The Star Theater was located in a large frame building with a balcony and seated more than 400 persons. The alarm was turned in by Elmer Sherrill, night watchman. The blaze could be seen for many miles.

ARRAIGN DUNLAP AND GOEBEL TO ANSWER CHARGES

A plea of autre fois acquit was entered by attorneys of M. F. Dunlap and William G. Goebel, indicted Ayers National Bank officials, when the two were arraigned in circuit court Tuesday morning on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy to embezzle. By this plea the defendants claim that they already have been acquitted of the charges brought in the present indictment.

According to the written plea and the oral statements of their attorneys in court, M. F. Dunlap and Goebel contend that Goebel delivered to Dunlap all of $504,000 in bonds at one time. They first trial the defendants were acquitted of the larceny of Illinois College bonds on June 20, and according to the plea that was the only date upon which Goebel delivered bonds to Dunlap.

The State, however, charges in the current indictment that bonds belonging to the College were taken on June 24 and pledged with a St. Louis bank for $500,000.

State's Attorney Absher appeared at the arraignment Tuesday morning, with Attorneys W. St. John Winesack, L. E. Fullenwider of Springfield representing the defendants. Judge Victor Hemphill of Carlinville was the presiding judge.

The state's attorney is expected to file a reply to the plea of the defendants within a short time. No date for trial has been set, pending the outcome of the plea.

LACK OF FUNDS MAY CAUSE HALT IN RELIEF WORK

The vast work of the Morgan County Emergency Relief organization is again uncertain as to the future because of the lack of funds. It was learned Tuesday from officials who are in charge of administration relief to several hundred families.

A letter from the district auditor received by Harry Petefish, chairman of the county committee, and Mrs. Tillie J. Kelly, director of relief, stated that: "We have been advised by Russell L. Peters, chief auditor of the Illinois commission, that federal Fund B account is exhausted and that further federal funds cannot be expected."

The Morgan county relief committee had enough funds left from its August quota to carry through the first week of September. At the end of this week the relief work here may come to a halt if funds are not provided at once.

It was reported here Tuesday that some action may be taken by the state of Illinois to tide over the relief program until more federal funds are made available.

SUNDAY, SEPT. 17 IS BIG DAY AT M. E. CONFERENCE

Conference Sunday, Sept. 17, is expected to bring to Jacksonville one of the largest crowds this city has ever entertained. It was learned Tuesday that Springfield Methodism is planning to send a delegation of 1,000 people to attend the conference that day and to enjoy a basket dinner at Nichols park. The city's playground will be the scene of a Methodism reunion, with a dinner at 12:30 o'clock. Families are urged to come and bring their baskets.

The morning conference program on Sunday will probably be held in the gymnasium at the State hospital. This is the only building where it is believed the crowd can be accommodated. The conference sermon will be delivered at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning by Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf, who will speak on the topic, "The Cross." A crowd of 25,000 people is expected to hear the bishop.

The conference will bring to the city nearly a thousand people for a week's stay. Plans for handling this record number of guests went forward Tuesday, as the membership of a local committee was gathered at the Chamber of Commerce, where the convention bureau went into action.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF JACKSONVILLE OPEN TUESDAY

All of the public schools of Jacksonville including the high school opened Tuesday morning with as large an attendance as last year and perhaps some increase.

The grade school pupils were given book lists and school was dismissed for the remainder of the day so that children might buy their books. Classes will begin at 9 o'clock this morning.

The high school students attended a general assembly yesterday morning in the auditorium and were given their programs for the semester. Short periods were conducted during the morning, at which time book lists and assignments were made. The attendance at the high school has increased so that the art department and the band have been moved from the high school building to the Josephine Milligan school. This will give the use of one classroom and the auditorium throughout the day.

A meeting of the principals of the schools was held Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium of the high school. At that time the enrollment for the year was read. Dr. R. O. Stoops presided over the meeting and discussed matters of general interest to the school system.

● ABOVE—CHARGING DOWN THE MIGHTY HUDSON to a thrilling finish in the long race from Albany to New York, Mrs. Florence Burnham, brilliant woman driver, set a grueling pace! Mrs. Burnham drove her hydroplane superbly over the 132-mile course... to dash by the finish line the winner... in the record time of 3 hours, 37 minutes, 53 seconds!

● RIGHT—SHE TAKES NO CHANCES with her nerves. "I've tried most of the cigarette brands," says Mrs. Burnham, "but for a long time I have been an enthusiastic Camel fan. Camels, being so much milder, never ruffle or disturb my nerves, so I smoke them all I want."

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. Isn't this the most important statement ever made by a cigarette manufacturer? Consider what it means. Change to Camels and learn that it's the tobacco that counts!

STEADY SMOKERS TURN TO CAMELS

"I never would have been able to hold my boat at record speed for hours," says Mrs. Florence Burnham, "if I didn't take every precaution to keep my nerves healthy. As a steady smoker, I have tried most of the cigarette brands. But for a long time I have been an enthusiastic Camel fan. Camels, being so much milder, never ruffle or disturb my nerves, so I smoke them all I want."

You are missing a new delight in smoking... an added safeguard of healthy nerves... if you haven't yet switched to Camels. Begin today. Your taste will quickly appreciate the natural mildness of Camels... and your nerves will confirm your taste—bringing overwhelming proof that Camel's costlier tobaccos do make a difference!

How are Your Nerves?

● "I'LL NEVER BE a racing champion, but I love the water. When I'm out on a boat I have a keen zest for smoking. To avoid getting my nerves upset and fidgety I smoke Camels. They keep right on tasting good even when I go in for smoking in a big way."

BANK OFFICIAL ATTACKS NEW GUARANTY LAW

Sisson Questions New Act Guaranteeing Deposits

Chicago, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Five thousand bankers from over the nation were told today by Francis H. Sisson, president of the American Bankers Association, that the deposit guaranty law by congress this year would be of "questionable" value.

"The present law largely repeats the old mistakes on a bigger scale," Sisson said in speaking of the banking act of 1933, of which the deposit guaranty is a part. The act guarantees deposits up to $2,500.

"Guaranty of deposit plans have proved failures wherever tried in many previous tests," Sisson said, "invariably causing weaker rather than stronger banking, and have been abandoned in every case by sadder and wiser states that embraced them for a time."

Sisson claimed that "the haste with which the measure was drawn and the controversial and high strung conditions under which it was enacted resulted in many defects that hamper its practical operation."

He also criticized the act for calling upon the banks to give up investment activities and for giving the Federal Reserve Board at Washington—which he termed "politically appointed"—the power to control credit operations of member banks.

Sisson traced the banking legislation to what he termed blaming of the banker for all the nation's economic ills.

"Society sought its scapegoat and landed with remarkable unanimity upon the banker as the demon responsible for their troubles," Sisson said. "The unfortunate part of this wave of slander and attack is that it reacts upon the banker's institution, upon the business of its community."

Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, called upon the bankers to cooperate wholeheartedly with President Roosevelt's recovery program by "providing credit to accommodate agriculture, commerce, and industry based upon a going country."

Medal For Puncher of Huey Long Will Be Struck in Gold

New York, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The design for the medal to be given the man who took a poke at the senator from Louisiana, Huey Long, has been completed, and its designer, George de Zayas, said today it would be struck in gold this week.

To whom the medal will be given has not been determined, owing to the reluctance of the washroom foe of the senator to admit his part in the affair.

There are names under consideration," the artist said. "One is Al Williams, the aviator; the other is the police chief of Port Washington, L. I., in whose jurisdiction the affair occurred; and a well known society man."

All have denied they laid a hand on the senator. The senator himself has stated that he was set upon by a gang, in which case it may be necessary to cast the medal in numbers. Placards occurred at the Sand Point Bath club more than a week ago.

The medal is oval shaped and straight across the top. The design is a grotesque caricature of the senator, conceived by the artist as a merman being struck on the face by a fist that rises from a wash bowl into which water is flowing from two open faucets.

OLD FARM LEASES DON'T MEET NEED OF MODERN TIMES

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 4.—Many of the leases in use on Illinois' 92,492 tenant farms have been put out of date by the recent swift economic changes, it is reported by Leslie Wright, of the department of agricultural economics, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Now that landlords and tenants are in the midst of the government's farm adjustment program, they might also well consider the provisions of their leases and revise them to get a fair and equitable setup, he pointed out.

General principles must be provided for if the lease is to assure satisfactory relationships between the land owner and the farm operator. First of all, a farm lease should provide for a profitable system of farming as compared with other farms in the community, and second, a fair division of the net proceeds from the farm business should be made between the two parties.

"In a period of changing prices it is hard to maintain a fair division of the net proceeds," he pointed out. It is because of these changing farm prices that many farm leases need to be adjusted from year to year.

"In general, a livestock share lease gives more satisfactory results on farms where it can be used advantageously. Many points need to be considered, including the type of farm, the improvements upon it, and the tenant's ability to handle livestock, as well as the landlord's understanding of farm conditions. Usually, a cash lease is really a share lease because the division of income between the two parties is made on the basis of the net receipts rather than the gross receipts.

The crop-share cash lease and the strictly cash lease are less flexible and need to be adjusted during periods of widely fluctuating farm prices. If they are not fair, they are likely to lead to poor handling of the land and the rapid depreciation of it."

ILLINOIS MINE STRIFE STUDIED BY GEN. JOHNSON

Federal Government May Settle Dispute in Coal Fields

Chicago, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The federal government may take a hand in the next few weeks in the bloody Illinois mine union war, General Hugh S. Johnson, boss of American industry under the NRA, indicated here today.

The long factional fight he said, will come up for settlement as soon as the code for the coal industry is finished, he suspended work on that during his trip to the middle west, he said, but would call the operators and union men into session again soon after his return.

He admitted he was perplexed as to what steps to take to make peace between the United Mine Workers of America and their rivals, the Progressive Miners of America, and indicated he counted it one of the recovery administration's toughest questions.

"Of course, the ideal situation would be for the Progressives to go back into the United Mine Workers," he said.

On his return to the capital, he said, he plans to investigate the Illinois situation more thoroughly. The rebellion, he said, is assured of representation in the coal code discussions.

Local Prep Teams Work Out In Heat on Opening Night; All Coaches Begin Slowly

Undismayed by the temperatures of the day, which zoomed up to 94 during the hottest period, coaches of Jacksonville's three prep school football teams called out their gladiators, year include names famous hereabouts. H. Westray, brother of the Westray of St. Viator fame, and John Pacotti, brother of Tony Pacotti, of Illinois College renown, are among the boys who are expected to do things.

steamed them a bit, and sent them back to cooling showers in the opening of practice sessions for this year's of the local fronts was curtailed somewhat by the heat, the coaches working their charges slowly, and spending much of their time in talk.

Rount high had the biggest squad on the opening night, 38 reporting for practice, but only two teams were furnished equipment. Illinois School for the Deaf was next with 35 boys on the field in uniform, and Jacksonville high was last with 32 men reporting, mostly because no regular practice was called for last night. The Crimson will enter their regular training tonight, and Coach Frank Walker is expecting a squad that will number 40 or more.

More pressure was put on the team by Coach Walker last night. Then comes last year's entire second string which played a number of games, and will have a chance this year to show what they can do when wearing the first team clothes. They are Gonopetis, Thurman, Gordon, Guggalis, Urbanovich, Adams, Orm, Minise, Suring, Riha, Orman, and

As the coach began conditioning his squad for the opening game early this month, The Tigers have only until Saturday, Sept. 16, to get ready for their first game of the season. Both teams will open their season on the same date, Sept. 30, the Crimsons playing Beadstown here, and Beadstown playing Quaker Lake.

A husky, ambitious but green squad turned out at Routt as Athletic Director

The Tigers will miss their flashy Gene Donoghue, and Chudzickiewicz, center, along with Wagner, Mitchell, Wendell, Jansen and Milbert. But Coach Burns did not lose any new players. He has lost only four of the 20 year age limit went into effect. The result is that this year he has an entirely new squad, from first and second teams, down to third and fourth, ready to step up a notch in

Wallace Baptist began fashioning this year's machine. The outlook became a little more rosey for a winning team this year when it was found that there is a possibility that Joe Bessard, fullback, and Buster, who has had another embarrassing suspension, before becoming ineligible, but this will not be established for a few days. The return of Mario Cicuto, halfback, Geo. Geanetos, Hoeczer Lacey and Rex-

Routt is depending upon its reserves to build up another of the unbeatable teams which have been coming off the east side campus during the past few years, and apparently the reserves are all ready to step into the shoes of the departed. The team is a galaxy of greats in Routt history: last spring, V. Loneragan, P. Clancy, Torricelli, Sawedine, Mattingly, Topinka, and others are remembered. Fred Lindstrom, who left the Giant family to join up with Pittsburgh this season, had the satisfaction of driving the great left hander to the showers with a double down the left field foul line that scored Larry French with the fourth Pirate run.

AUTHORIZE CUT IN TAX RATE AT COUNCIL MEET

Aldermen Approve Resolution Calling For 25% in Road District Rate

Authorizing a cut of 25 per cent in the tax rate to be levied by Road District 14, which comprises the city of Jacksonville, the city council last night approved a resolution requesting $14,950 as its share of the taxes from the county commission. The new tax rate will be based on 15c for each $100 valuation, and will be assessed for 1934.

The cut in the road tax was made possible, Alderman Franklin Matthews, chairman of the finance committee explained, because of the 1-1-1 bill passed by the Illinois State legislature which authorizes payment of one cent out of each three cents collected by the gasoline tax to the municipalities, one cent to the county and one cent to the state. The cut in the road tax rate will be between $25,000 and $30,000 out of this fund, he estimated.

The taxes for the road district are based on a schedule, which allots $10,250 for maintenance, the largest item on the levy. The budget provides for $1,000 for repairs to machinery, and $1,000 for the purchase of new equipment. Only $500 is allotted in the budget for building new roads, $500 more for the construction of bridges, and $300 for the maintenance of bridges. Road claims will be limited to $500 and $300 for the extrication and control of weeds.

The budget report for the month of August was presented at the meeting, showing the city government is running under its budget this far. A total of $20,042.37 remains unexpended from the budgeted funds.

South Main Pavement. Mayor W. A. Wainwright explained that there is a possibility that South Main street would be paved by funds allocated by the federal and state governments. There is a strong possibility that this will be done, he said, and if it is done, there will be no assessment against the property owners for the paving. He said that the city has not learned the complete details of the federal grant, regarding curbs and removing the former paving, but that if assessments are necessary to take care of these items, the charges will be nominal.

The question came up as to who owned the bricks in the street, and City Attorney Orville Foreman said it was his opinion the bricks were owned by the property owners fronting on the street. However, to obtain the bricks for their own use, property owners will be required to pick them out of the pavement and store them with no expense to the city. If the property owners fail to do this, the bricks become the property of the city when the city removes them to make way for the new pavement.

Discussion of the most efficient way to heat the city hall occupied the attention of the aldermen and mayor for some time, but the problem was finally turned over to the building committee. The committee is being paired now in order to have it ready for use this fall, but the method of supplying heat to the boiler caused much comment, with some of the aldermen favoring oil heat and others favoring coal heat.

Applications for beer licenses for the Prima Distributing company, to be located at 217 South Main street, signed by Eugene Clark and Samuel Voorhes, manager, and H. P. DeFries, 221 North Sandy street, were granted. The council also ordered the police department to investigate an alleged transfer of a license, and an alleged wholesaler operating a place in which the beverage is sold at retail.

The attention of the council again was focused on a charge that a Springfield concern has been selling beer at wholesale in this city without purchasing a city license, avoiding the license by claiming that the beverage was ordered from them through their Springfield office.

A petition from Raymond Johnson, architect who drew plans for the addition to the Prosserman-Speiser factory, was read, requesting that the city do something to the wooden frame building next to the lot occupied by the clothing company factory. The factory claimed that the proximity of the building caused an increase in their insurance rate, and that it was a menace to their safety. The petition was referred to the fire committee to investigate.
